From Ken Bernhard:

"I am donating three paintings of A Cat sailboats (not pictured) of Barnegat Bay. You may remember my interest and love has been the history of boats of the bay beaches, and sailing ships. One of my paintings is in the book, A Cats: A Century of Tradition."

From the article:

(A Cats) were built to win races, and one race in particular: the Toms River Challenge Cup. The Toms River Challenge was first run in 1871 on Barnegat Bay, and next to the America's Cup -- yachting's Holy Grail -- it is, according to "A Cats," the nation's oldest yacht race.

In the 1920's, in pursuit of the Challenge Cup, a Philadelphia judge, Charles McKeehan, commissioned a racing boat ideally suited to the bay. The design, by Charles D. Mower, was for a boat 28 feet long -- as large as was practical for the narrow bay -- with a broad 12-foot beam, or width. Its 46-foot mast and 28-foot boom (the sail's horizontal support) allowed for an immense sail of 615 square feet.

Even better, the boat could sail in just a few feet of water -- ideal for the shallow bay -- though it had a centerboard, or retractable keel, that could be lowered for greater stability in deeper water.

Linda Arnold has two artworks in the upcoming Atlantic Highlands' first juried exhibit, "Art in the Time of Covid." The exhibit runs from December, 16-January, 23. The virtual opening on December 17 is available by R.S.V.P. here: <https://aharts.org/exhibits> .
